

MENTAL HEALTH in the Workplace

A psychologically healthy workplace is a respectful and productive environment that makes every reasonable effort to promote and protect the mental health of employees.

Employers

are responsible for protecting the health and safety of employees.

30% of disability claims are related to mental health problems and mental illness.¹

1/5 Canadians experience a mental health problem or mental illness each year.²

$50 billion per year is the total cost of mental health problems and mental illnesses in Canada.³

BENEFITS OF A PSYCHOLOGICALLY HEALTHY WORKPLACE

- engagement
- morale
- satisfaction
- retention and recruitment
- productivity

- absenteeism
- grievances
- health costs
- medical leave/disability
- workplace injuries

Employers should assess their workplace for hazards, whether physical or psychological, then develop a plan to address and mitigate those hazards.
